ANNEX 1

Fit and Proper Due Diligence Test for Officials of the MFA

1. Fit and Proper Requirements

- 1.1 The MFA shall ensure that all persons bound by this Code are at all times “fit and proper” persons. In deciding whether a person is “fit and proper” the MFA shall be satisfied that all persons bound by this Code:
- a. have the personal characteristics, including that of being of good repute and integrity (proper);
 - b. has the professional qualifications, and possesses the adequate level of competence, knowledge and experience (fit), required to enable such person to carry out his duties and perform his or her key function effectively and to enable sound and prudent management of the MFA.

2. Criteria of Fitness and Properness

- 2.1 Fit and proper controls are a means of raising public confidence in the integrity of the MFA administration. The “fit and proper” test is one which the persons concerned shall satisfy on a continuing basis.
- 2.2 Section 2 of this Annex does not attempt to define what constitutes fitness and properness of a person concerned. The fit and proper test is not an absolute standard but one which relates to the position a person holds, or will hold, or the key function he performs or will perform, with the MFA. Each case is assessed on the basis of the relevant circumstances.
- 2.3 The onus of proving that a person concerned who is an individual is a fit and proper person for the type of position the person holds, or will hold, or the key function he will perform, with MFA to ensure sound and prudent management is exclusively on an impartial and independent entity, Council or Board appositely tasked for the matter.
- 2.4 The competent approach when determining whether a person concerned is fit and proper is cumulative. It may decide that a person concerned who is an individual has failed to meet the fitness and properness criteria on the basis of considering several situations, each of which on its own merit would not lead to that conclusion. An open and honest relationship with the MFA is thus essential. When arriving at its decision as to whether a person concerned who is an individual has met the fitness and properness criteria, the deciding independent entity will take account of all material facts, whether such facts are disclosed or otherwise. It should be noted that if a person provides information or makes statements which are inaccurate, false or misleading shall be immediately declared as failing such test.

2.5 In general terms, the “fit and proper” test which a person shall meet includes the following criteria:

- i. Honesty, integrity and reputation;
- ii. Competence and capability; and
- iii. Sound Financial standing.

The degree of satisfaction of the above listed criteria, particularly relating to competence and good financial acumen, may vary depending on the type of operation as well as to the function within the proposed regulated activity.

i) Honesty, Integrity and Reputation

The person should be of high repute, integral and honest. In determining the latter criteria regard shall be given to all matters that may have arisen relating but not limited to:

- a. Whether the person has been or has reason to believe that he/she may be investigated for a criminal offence or any other proceedings by a competent authority;
- b. Whether the person has been charged for any crime excluding involuntary offences
- c. Whether the person has been convicted of any crime excluding involuntary offences;
- d. Whether the person has been the subject of any civil suit in relation to any debt that remained outstanding or is still pending, which has or might have a substantial bearing on the financial position of the person;
- e. Whether the person has a tainted regulatory performance record with any competent authority whether in Malta or overseas;
- f. Whether the person has been publicly criticised for any function;
- g. Whether the person has been made to resign or has been dismissed during any past employment;

ii) Competence and Capability

Relevant persons who are entrusted with the management and oversight of the MFA need to have appropriate skills, knowledge and experience as well as to act with honesty and integrity. To this effect the MFA must ensure that persons bound by this Code who are placed in positions of responsibility are fit and proper.

In determining whether persons bound by this Code are competent for the function being applied or nominated for, it shall be considered whether the person has:

- a. past experience;
- b. any relevant qualifications and training received;
- c. the time at hand to perform such functions;
- d. any other requirement deemed necessary in the light of such function.

iii) Sound Financial Standing

In determining whether an applicant or a nominee enjoys good financial standing regard shall be given to the current financial position, financial background and business reputation of such persons particularly –

- a. any civil suit in relation to any debt that remained outstanding or is still pending, which has or might have a substantial bearing on the financial position of the person;
- b. any bankruptcy proceedings;
- c. any repayment plans and financial exposure which is substantial and which could influence in any manner any decision taken by the Officer;
- d. any freezing/attachment/investigation orders or other measures.

3. Fit and Proper Individuals

3.1 A fit and proper person is a person who is competent, honest and experienced. Such person is a person of integrity, has a good record of business and the requisite knowledge and ability for the position the person holds or proposes to hold. Conversely, a person who is incompetent, dishonest and inexperienced is an unfit and improper person.

3.2 It must be clear that there is nothing in a person's present state or past record that would make the person unfit for the position such person holds or proposes to hold. Testing for unfitness is carried out by examining a person's integrity in response to a range of standardized requirements set out in the Personal Questionnaire that are highly relevant to fitness. Requirements set out in the Personal Questionnaire contained in Section 4 to this Annex are inter alia about a person's experience and qualifications; about a person's own business interests; about events which may cast doubts on a person's reputation and character including convictions, bankruptcy proceedings and regulatory actions against the person. All information is to be submitted in writing and signed by the person concerned.

3.3 On application or nomination, the person being submitted to the test is to disclose in writing any potential conflict of interest according to the Conflict of Interest Policy as outlined in Annex 2.

3.4 On application or nomination, the person being submitted to the test is to produce his/her police conduct certificate and, from time to time, the person may be required to produce an updated certificate.

3.5 On application or nomination, the person being submitted to the test is to produce the following documentation:

Below are some examples of practical activities in which a Conflict of Interest may potentially arise:

E-Mail Etiquette Guidelines

E-Mail Etiquette Guidelines

Email is often used to communicate with other entities, partners and other important contacts. Although a relatively informal medium, employees should be aware that each email they send does affect the Associations' image and reputation.

It's a good idea to follow rules of good email etiquette. Users must:

- Not forward on chain emails or 'humorous' messages. These clogs up people's in-boxes and some topics are not appropriate for the workplace;
- Always use a meaningful subject line rather than leaving it blank or using a single word like 'hello';
- Only use the 'important message' setting sparingly, for messages that really are important;
- Never ask recipients to send a 'message read' receipt. Many people find these annoying and not all email services support them;
- Do not use ALL CAPITAL LETTERS in messages or subject lines. This can be perceived as impolite;
- Be sparing with group messages, only adding recipients who will find the message genuinely relevant and useful;
- Use the 'CC' (carbon copy) field sparingly. If someone really needs to receive a message, they should be included in the 'to' field;
- Use the 'BCC' (blind carbon copy) field to send group messages where appropriate. It stops an email recipient seeing who else was on the email.
